DARK WEB MONITORING · IN PREPARATION

Dark Web Monitoring

Analyst-led monitoring of criminal forums, marketplaces, leak sites and infostealer-log listings for your credentials, data and access — each finding triaged with what it unlocks and what to do next. Read-only by design.

What we assess

What we watch

Forums, marketplaces, leak sites, paste sites, public channels and infostealer-log listings — readable without an account.

What we look for

Your domains, brands and agreed executives, leaked credentials and sessions, data, and access offered for sale.

What you get back

What each finding is, how old it is, what it unlocks, and the next step — delivered to a named contact.

What you get

- ✓ An agreed watch scope, reviewed with you at onboarding
- ✓ Triaged findings, labelled claimed or advertised until confirmed
- ✓ Remediation matched to each finding: reset, revoke, review
- ✓ Breached-password blocking advice based on NIST SP 800-63B-4
- ✓ Dated evidence to support your breach-notification decision
- ✓ A monthly exposure report, including what we could not see
- ✓ Minimal, redacted evidence with short retention

How it works

1. Agree scope, named contacts and how findings are delivered
2. Watch sources readable without an account — no personas
3. Triage findings; only you can confirm a breach
4. Report monthly, remediate, and review coverage

A good fit if

- ✓ You want to know when your credentials, sessions or data are being traded.
- ✓ Your staff use many SaaS tools and you have little visibility of stolen sessions.
- ✓ You gather cyber-threat information for DORA Art 13(1) (binding) or NCSC CAF A2.b (guidance).
- ✓ You want findings you can act on, not a feed of raw alerts.

Probably not, if

- × You want us to buy your data back or negotiate with criminals — we never do.
- × You want guaranteed, complete coverage — closed communities exist to keep us out.
- × You want your data erased from the internet — nobody can promise that.

How we engage

Findings as they arise
Plus a monthly exposure report: what we found, what you reported fixed, what we could not see.

Senior-led
The practitioner who scopes the work does the work and writes the report.

Read-only
We never buy, bargain, post, use personas, or log in with what we find.
